Marines Move on Reservoir as Reds Attack in East

No Opposition To Advance on Central Front

Reds Charge During Blinding Snowstorm

Seoul, Korea, Nov. 13—(AP)—Parka-clad U. S. marine pushed cautiously five and a half miles through undefended, icy hills toward the great Changjin reservoir today.

While the marines advanced in the center of the front, there was dogged fighting near both coasts.

Solid Defense Line

Back of the front, United Nations forces drew a solid defense line across the narrow waist of Korea. The line was completed by the junction of the third division, built up to battle strength by the addition of South Koreans and Puerto Ricans, and the South Korean Eighth division.

The advancing marines, bundled like Eskimos, wound through a cork-screw gorge in subzero weather without tank support. Tank tracks churned the mountain road into a soggy mass that bogged down the heavy equipment.

Get Air Cover

Marine planes flew close cover. Even that was unneeded as the Leathernecks ran into only a scattered handful of Chinese Communists, remnants of the 124th division, garbed in padded cotton uniforms. The Reds were eliminated without marine loss.

To the west, Communists appeared to be digging in or fighting delayed actions, but on the east coast they swarmed to the attack.

North Koreans guarding the approaches to the Soviet border attacked in force on the east coast Monday under cover of a blinding snowstorm. The Red spearhead

Michigan Race For Governor Is Undecided

Detroit, Nov. 13—(AP)—The lingering see-saw race for the Michigan governorship, still undecided six days after the state election, swung back over to Democratic G. Mennen Williams today.

A change in the canvassed returns from Macomb county, straightened out by a precinct election board chairman's testimony before canvassers, gave these state totals, with official canvasses still narrowly incomplete:

G. Mennen Williams (D.) 935,128
Harry F. Kelly (R.) 934,570

Thus, with a half dozen of the state's 83 counties still to report their official canvassed figures, Williams take the lead by a margin of 558 votes over his Republican rival, two-time former Governor Kelly.

Strangely, in the unique mixup resulting from the state's closest governor election in history, Michi-

Hits Coddling By Hofmann of Tavern-Keeper

Zmudka Fined $100

Zmudka was fined $100 and costs by Police Magistrate Albert N. Kennedy on a complaint signed by Hofmann as liquor commissioner. Zmudka pleaded guilty to the charge.

"It is the plain duty of the liquor commissioner," Judge Dixon said, "to take action beyond the limits of the city ordinances. The tavern's license could have been revoked upon the guilty plea."

Before he got to Henson's sentence, Judge Dixon warmed up his attack on the mayor.

Hits Mayor's 'Coddling'

More Than a Million in U. S. Have Diabetes, Don't Know It

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

New York, Nov. 13—(AP)—A nationwide search for 1,000,000 missing Americans begins today.

These are the people—you may be one—who have diabetes and don't know it. They are missing modern help that can bring them extra years of life and health.

The search starts with an offer of free tests this week, anywhere in the country. The campaign is staged by the American Diabetes Association.

Tests Are Simple

The tests are simple checks of urine or blood for excess sugar, the hallmark of diabetes. Diabetes comes from the lack of insulin, a hormone from the pancreas gland. Due to this lack your body is not able to turn sugars and starches into energy as it should, and your health suffers.

In some communities this week doctors are offering free tests in their own offices. Other towns and cities have set up special testing centers. Mobile units are visiting factories, clubs and schools in other communities. In a few others, people are being urged to do their own urine testing with special kits sold in drug stores.

Finding of excess sugar in the urine or blood means possible diabetes. Further tests are necessary to show whether the sign is really due to diabetes, or some other condition.

About 1,000,000 Americans are known to have diabetes, and are under treatment with insulin or proper diets designed to keep the disease under control.

Made U. S. Survey

The estate of a million more unknown diabetics is made by the association on the basis of surveys in towns like Oxford, Mass., and Virginia, Minn. They found that one-half to 1.5 per cent of these townsfolk had diabetes and weren't aware of it.

How can you tell whether you're one of the million?

You can never be sure, even if you feel pretty much all right, for diabetes can start mildly and insidiously. But there are certain danger signals that should make you more alert.

In severe untreated cases, diabetes brings excessive thirst and hunger and frequent urination. Kidneys work overtime to rid the blood of excess sugar, and the body demands more water. Hunger comes from failure to utilize food energy properly.

Other Signs, Too

Other signs may be getting tired easily, loss of weight, severe itching, trouble with eyesight, or gums, or slow healing of boils, infections or cuts and bruises.

Diabetes can hit at any age, from infancy on, but it begins most often in middle age and old age.

Women are more susceptible than men, and married women are more likely to get diabetes than single women.

It is more common in overweight people.

Scorpions possess from two to 12 eyes, but can just barely tell light from dark.

Educators Must Teach How To Read Newspapers, Claim

Miami Beach, Fla., Nov. 13—(AP)—One aim of education should be to teach the student how to read newspapers, Louis M. Lyons, curator of the Nieman Foundation at Harvard University, told a panel discussion Saturday.

Few assists are more important to a community than a good press, and few more unfortunate than to be stuck with a bad one, he added.

Lyons was a member of a panel discussing the subject: "Is the press meeting its responsibility?" It was held in connection with the Sigma Delta Chi national convention.

Other panel members were John S. Knight, publisher of Knight newspapers; Frank J. Starzel, general manager of The Associated Press, and Fairfax Cone, chairman of the board of Foote, Cone and Belding, Chicago advertising agency.

Hit Superficiality

Panel members were critical of newspapers which failed to meet the responsibility of informing the public by being too frothy and superficial, of radio's endless repetition in advertising; of all agencies which feast on a diet of crime and violence or take themselves so seriously as to make believe the seamy side of life doesn't exist.

The press—and it was made clear this meant radio, television, magazines and newspapers—was told to be more critical of itself. And reader or listener criticism was termed a healthy thing.

The principal responsibility of the press is to inform the reader and permit him to get at the facts without slanting or distorting, said Lyons.

Press Must Inform

Knight agreed, pointing out that the aim of the press is to inform and then permit readers to reach their own conclusions.

Starzel, in response to a question from Knight, said Americans are not the only people in the world capable of reporting news accurately and with proper background. There are many capable journalists around the world including Englishmen, Frenchmen, Germans, Swedes, Chinese and Japanese.

"Let's not abrogate to ourselves a monopoly on the ability to gather news," he concluded.

A question from the floor asked how a reader could distinguish facts from propaganda.

Who Is Your Friend?

"How can you tell who is your friend and who is not your friend?" Lyons countered.

Knight replied that he advocated a paragraph of information about columnists along with their published columns, telling whether the particular writer is a liberal, a conservative, a radical or what.

Starzel pointed out that in the factual reporting of an important political speech, for example, a propaganda element enters because the speech is made to sway thought. It is the press' responsibility to permit the reader to decide if he agrees with the speaker.

Newsprint Industry Needs Competition, Congressman Claims

Washington, Nov. 13—(AP)—Rep. Cellar (D-NY) urged the Justice Department yesterday to start court action "to restore competition in the newsprint industry."

As chairman of the house judiciary committee, Cellar recently conducted an inquiry into the American and Canadian newsprint industry. He wrote Attorney General McGrath that a score or more of newsprint mills have made uniform price boosts recently.

"I believe that here is clear evidence of violation of the anti-trust laws of this country," he wrote. "The evidence of uniform pricing practices, historic in the industry, shows that competition no longer determines newsprint prices."

HE CAME TO KILL
by ADELINE M'ELFRESH

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Aged, domineering Maggie Thorne is smothered to death in her bed and all her household, including her nephew Peter, who came home on the eve of the crime, are suspects. Next her sister, Agatha, 74, is pushed down a stairway, but escapes serious injury. Leeana, youthful granddaughter of the murder victim, lives in fear and realizes that Peter's brother Jasper and Jasper's wife Sondra are not telling the truth. At the inquest Leeana sits next to Peter and she believes that she may be sitting next to the murderer—that Peter came home to kill.

PETER sat beside Leeana and she held herself stiffly erect, avoiding contact with his coat while she listened to Dr. Zimorunsky's questions during the inquest.

"Tell us, if you will, Deputy Preston," the coroner asked, "what happened about the time Miss Agatha Thorne was attacked."

Leeana leaned forward, intent on Mart's testimony, but there was nothing she did not know already. There was not even as much. Mart was holding back. Why didn't he tell about Peter quarreling with his aunt? About Jasper hearing the quarrel and not even looking in to see who was with Miss Aggie?

It was over finally. The foreman of the jury read the verdict in a voice that sounded like the knell of death itself:

"Death at the hands of a person or persons unknown."

Leeana shuddered. It sounded so—so frightful. So—frightening. What if Mart's plan backfired? What if—I'd be dead! she thought. He won't miss again, he'll be too sure that one more slip will be his own end. She slipped away from Peter's side and fought her way through the milling spectators toward the door through which Mart had disappeared.

The hallway was narrow and dark and musty-smelling. After an elbow turn it spilled Leeana into the main corridor, filled now with men and women who had been spectators. Most of them were on the move, surging around small clumps of people who stubbornly held their ground as they discussed the inquest. How did it look to them? Leeana wondered. Which one of us do they think is guilty? She hurried on, pushing and shoving her way toward the stairs; she didn't want to think of it; she was afraid, she realized, of the truth.

No one paid any attention. To these people—now—she was one of them. Wearily, she wished she was. She wished she was at home—sitting with Pops on their high front yard, looking out over the bay. San Diego would be lovely now. Not cold. Not—and she shuddered—filled with murder.

SHE had walked a long time before she realized they might be waiting for her at the courthouse. The outskirts of Thorne City sprawled behind her. Lost in the pleasantries of home, she had come almost a mile. She was nearer Thorne Hill than she was the courthouse, where Mart and the others probably were frantic.

Well, let them be! she thought rebelliously, and struck off.

The big old house that, because of its austerity, she never could think of as her father's boyhood home frowned down at her as she climbed the hill. No wonder Pops hadn't wanted her to come. No wonder he had been afraid of the thing it would do to her spontaneity, as he had expressed it. Thorne Hill—and those who spent their lives there—must have invited murder, always. Their hatred, their bitterness . . . their love—of money . . .

Leeana shook off the coldness that stabbed at her as she entered the silent house and went to the telephone which Mart had ordered repaired that morning. At least she could let Mart know she was safe.

Sheriff Purdy answered the phone.

"Mart and the others are scouring the town," he snapped at her. "Why did you go off half-cocked that way?"

"Why—" Her explanation would sound very lame, she realized, but she gave it: "I wanted to think."

"And did you?"

"About pleasant things, for a change."

The sheriff snorted. He was disgusted with people who went around whistling in the dark, asking to be murdered. He told her so, sternly, ending the half-angry order to go to her room and lock herself in and stay there until he or Mart came—and not to come out for anyone else. He hung up with a bang that brought a mischievous grin to Leeana's lips. She liked the sheriff. He could get stewed up about her safety if he wanted to, but it was broad daylight and Thorne Hill was only five minutes from town by car . . . five minutes. Time enough for any one of them to have beaten her here, to be waiting—to kill her.

In a twinkling the house became a hateful place, filled with a menace of its own. Somewhere in it was a killer . . . waiting. Leeana caught her breath. She had to get out!

But outside it was no better. Fear dogged her heels, kept time to the throbbing pulse in her throat. She started running down the crazily curving driveway.

HALFWAY to the highway she saw Peter. He swung off the bus almost before it stopped and loped up the hill toward her. Leeana stopped. Peter was the one who came! He had killed Miss Maggie. She started to run.

Off the white rock driveway the ground was treacherous, the hillside precipitous. Peter was gaining on her. He was too intent on murder to be cautious.

"Leeana!" The wind whipped his shout past her ears and back again. "Come back!"

Leeana was aware, then, that the voice had stopped. Or it had become lost in the frenzy of her own fear as she felt herself falling, down—down—down! until blackness came up to meet her like a great blanket.

Rival Dog Food Holds Line; No Price Increase

CHICAGO, November 13—Housewives can't buy much with a dime today, but when it comes to Rival Dog Food, the little ten cent piece still looks like its old self. The makers of Rival are holding the line on price, in spite of the fact that all the elements that go into its manufacture have increased in cost. Since dog food is an important item with millions of dog owners, it is no wonder that so many have expressed their appreciation to the Rival Packing Company for maintaining its 10c price for the full pound can, by buying in ever-increasing quantities.

Food Value, Quality Unchanged

In announcing its intention to hold the price line, the Rival Packing Company stresses the fact that the high quality of Rival remains unchanged. The same rigid standards are applied in checking the purity and food value of every ingredient that goes into Rival Dog Food. "The secret of maintaining price and quality, when manufacturing costs are rising," state Rival officials, "is large volume. America's dog owners have made that possible, by purchasing Rival at a record-breaking pace."

Production Capacity Increased

With demand for Rival Dog Food growing, it has been necessary to add to Rival's manufacturing capacity. As a result, Rival Packing Company is now constructing additional plant facilities which will greatly increase production. (ADV.)

Church Meet, Visits, Notes Of Mt: Morris

Mt. Morris—The Board of Christian Education of the Brethren church has announced the coming events. Dr. Raymond Peters, of Elgin, acting elder of the local church will speak Sunday, Nov. 12 and Nov. 19. Sunday evening, Nov. 19, there will be a film shown, "The Peacemaker". Work at the Brethren church is going along well in spite of the fact that they will be without a pastor until May 1, when the Rev. Dean Frantz of Pleasantville, Ohio, will come to take charge. The Rev. Frantz, his wife and two children plan to move to Mt. Morris about that time.

Officer Promoted

Lt. Robert A. Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yoder, Sr., was recently promoted to First Lt., according to word received this week by his parents. Lt. Yoder is serving with the U. S. 10th Army in North Korea.

A graduate of Mt. Morris high school, Yoder served two years in the South Pacific during World War II with the First Marine division. He is one of the few men from this community who are known to be serving in Korea during the recent conflict.

He was graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnical Institute, Troy, N. Y. in Feb. 1950 and accepted a commission as Second Lt. in the regular army. Until assigned to active duty last August, he was stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., where he and Mrs. Yoder resided. At present time Mrs. Yoder, the former Dorothy Cranston, is staying with her parents in Schaghticoke, N. Y.

Goal Reached

The community chest goal for 1950-51 has been reached and has gone over the top. Total gifts have been $8,170, almost one thousand over the proposed budget of $7,902.

Unit to Meet

Mt. Morris Home Bureau night unit will meet with Mrs. Harlen McNett, Thursday evening, Nov. 16, at 8 p. m. The major lesson, "Banking Procedures" will be given by the home advisor, Mrs. Bertha Varnum. The minor lesson "Care of House Plants" will be given by Mrs. Joe Strite.

Square Dance

Tuesday, Nov. 14, the P.T.A. association of the Mt. Morris grade school will hold their annual square dance at the community gym at 8 p. m. Playing for the dance will be Charles Polstra and his orchestra. Polstra will do the calling.

Dr. Otto Boelter has purchased the John Ferguson property at 20 W. Main street. After remodeling and redecoration, the entire first floor will be used for office space and will be fully equipped. Dr. Boelter hopes to be in his new quarters by Dec. 1.

Mt. Morris Has School Bond Vote Dec. 12

Mt. Morris—The school board of district 214 has decided to give the voters of this community a chance to change their minds.

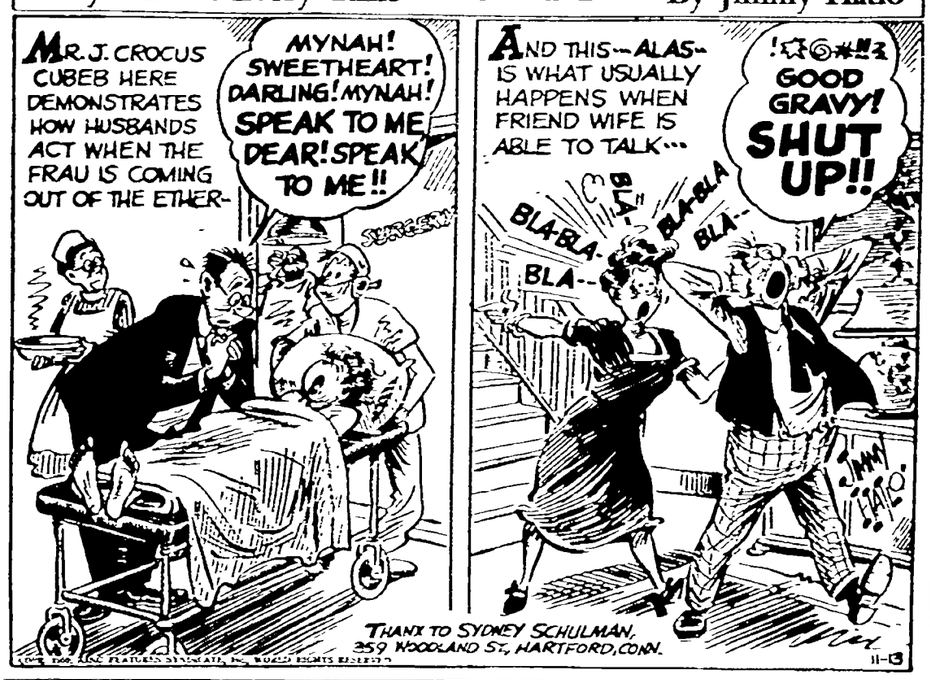

A second referendum on a $115,000 bond issue to equip the new high school will be put to the voters Dec. 12. The same referendum was defeated 347 to 320 at a vote Nov. 3.

The original $400,000 bond issue provided for construction of the new high school but does not provide for equipment. A second measure to increase the educational tax from 55 cents on $100 evaluation to the maximum 75 cents was beaten 335 to 314. This also will be voted on Dec. 12.

The decision for another vote was reached at a school board meeting Friday. The $115,000 bond issue and the raise in the educational tax would provide for the equipment for the high school, for teachers' salaries and operating expenses.

Commitments already made total $405,727. Total receipts from the $400,000 bond issue including the premium paid by the bonding house and accrued interest total $406,060. Construction on the new high school began about a month ago.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

You know that a little thought and a little kindness are often worth more than a great deal of money. This charity of thought is not merely to be exercised toward the poor; it is to be exercised toward all men.—John Ruskin.

Harry Truman's 1950 'Mandate'

If we may be so bold as to mention it, President Truman's "mandate" is showing again.

The president made much ado back in 1948 about the "mandate" of the people. He interpreted his election to mean that even his wildest socialistic schemes were endorsed by the American public.

Tuesday's election antiquates this old "mandate" (if it ever existed) and presents a brand new one for the president to munch on.

It boils down to this:

The general public still thinks that the free enterprise system is to be preferred to the "welfare state" and doesn't intend to be coerced by the president's organized "stooges," party hacks or pressure experts.

In fact there is ample evidence to indicate that Truman provided the "kiss of death" for some of his fair-haired boys

Look over the list of defeated candidates and you'll find men who made no secret of the fact they carried the president's blessing

In Ohio, Robert Taft had been marked for a purge as a test of the administration's dislike of the Taft-Hartley law The party bosses didn't spare either the money or the mud in an effort to seat Ferguson But "Mr Republican" will stay on the job.

Perhaps the most bitter blow to the president came in Illinois where his side-kick, Senator Scott Lucas, was snowed under by an avalanche of supporters for Everett Dirksen. There were no holds barred in the Illinois race. The administration definitely was considering the state as a testing ground for the 1952 election. And what a test!

And so the story goes all down the line, candidate for candidate.

It seems as if the more support they had from Truman the less votes they gathered Tuesday.

From a broad viewpoint, the election appeared to be more of a repudiation of Truman than of the Democrats, many of whom insist on a distinction being made between Trumancrats and Democrats.

The 1950 "mandate" indeed is interesting to those who think the American way of life is far superior to that of Truman's cherished "Welfare" state.—Clinton (Ia.) Herald.

Labor Bosses Rebuked

If there are rank and file labor union members who feel downcast or disturbed over the election returns Tuesday, they can quiet their fears. Sen. Taft's splendid victory and those of other supporters of the Taft-Hartley act cannot in any sense be regarded as a threat to the working man who carries a union card.

Those victories were a repudiation of the attempt of labor bosses to take over the government. The voters want none of that. They never have stood for it, and they never will. Jack Kroll, boss of the CIO smear brigade that operated so frantically against Sen. Taft and other Republicans, "couldn't understand" the returns. The people understood Kroll all right, and saw through his self-serving misrepresentations. In fact, union members themselves saw through it, as is shown by the Ohio returns. The senator carried all the big industrial counties.

Union labor is a minority in the United States. It is a minority, however, whose rights have been and will be recognized and protected by the majority.

No sane American wants to destroy labor unions. The Taft-Hartley act does not hamper union organization or threaten collective bargaining. It does take the stand that a union boss is not bigger than the government. It does say that unions, like everybody else, must play the game in accordance with rules laid down in laws. That is a stand that the American public approves. The Taft-Hartley act, in principle, is on the books to stay.

The insane clamor of Mr. Truman and labor bosses that it is a "slave labor law" should be recognized now for the fraud that it is. The act is designed to prevent slavery, not inflict it. The slavery against which it is directed is that imposed on too many union members by their bosses, an imposition that, before the law was enacted, they could neither resist nor protest without being deprived of their means of earning a living.

Q—Is it true that Hamlet is buried at Marianlyst, Denmark?

A—No, the "grave" there, which attracts many tourists, was fixed up by a publicity-wise Marianlyst innkeeper.

Q—How common is the name "Smith" in the United States?

A—There are an estimated 1,500,000 living Smiths.

Q—What relation does "Sturdy Gertie" bear to "Galloping Gertie?"

A—The former is the latter's successor. The mile-long suspension bridge over the Tacoma (Wash.) Narrows swayed so in high winds that commuters named it "Galloping Gertie." It collapsed in 1940, after only four months of service. "Sturdy Gertie," dedicated in October, 1950, is said to be 58 times as collapse-proof as "Galloping Gertie."

Q—Where is the world's first and only "University of the Dance?"

A—It is the Choreographic Academy, founded by the Paris Opera in 1947.

Q—What country has the densest railway syste in the world?

A—Switzerland, with 3600 miles of track reaching into every corner of the country.

In the continental United States the temperature has dropped to 60 degrees below zero in Montana, and risen to 134 edgrees in the shade in Death Valley, Calif.

Cost of Alaska purchased by the U. S. from Russia in 1867, was about two cents an acre.

We conclude the ladder for youth:

11. Take God into your choice of a life partner. Base your choice on something more than a physical attraction. Find a partner, if possible, in whom you will be interested and with whom you will be in love when the sex side of life has been dimmed and only the mental and spiritual remain. In other words, somebody in whose conversation you will have a lifelong interest. But don't expect perfection, since you yourself will not bring it to the partnership.

12. Youth is the age of struggle for freedom—gain freedom through discipline. There are two ways to try to find freedom: one is to throw off all restraint, and the other is to find freedom through disciplined obedience to high, chosen ends. You don't gain freedom from the policeman on the street corner by disobeying the law—when you disobey it you are haunted by the policeman every moment—but you gain freedom by obeying the laws for which he stands. The whole evolution of morals is to take the policeman off the street corner and put him within your heart. Then you obey from within, and hence are truly free Those who try to gain freedom by throwing off all restraint are free—to get into trouble with themselves and others.

13. Start the day right and you will probably end it right. Set aside some part of the morning hour for a quiet time with God. A doctor, after listening to the discussions of some pagan psychiatrists, said to some fellow doctors: "I don't know how you fellows feel, but I'd like to go and give my brain a bath." You will need that daily brain and soul bath, preferably in the early morning. Fix the habit so that it is not a decision to be made daily. It is something to be taken for granted and fixed with no exceptions. When you do without your quiet time with God, then do without your breakfast as a penalty. Pray whether you feel like it or not—pray by the clock, if necessary. There will be a hand on your shoulder as you go out into the day to begin your adventure with God.

O God, as I begin this day and this new way of life, I put my hand in Thine. May I not miss step with Thee today. May I literally be "controlled by the love of Christ." May my strong urges be taken hold of by Thy love and turned toward Kingdom ends. I offer Thee my powers as well as my weaknesses. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Strenuous Sports May Be Harmful to Some Children

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

It is almost universal for youngsters in their teens to take part in high school athletics.

There is no doubt that this is good on the whole, but one question that has never been satisfactorily answered is whether competitive athletics of the more strenuous kinds are harmful.

This is not much of a problem for girls, but the possible effect of some kinds of sports on the heart can be very important indeed for boys.

Competitive sports like baseball, football and field events would not be likely to harm the hearts of any of those thus engaged who are in good health. Football causes injuries, of course, but not to the heart because there is no long-continued muscular effort. Rest periods came at frequent intervals.

The question of injuring the heart is more likely to come up in basketball, crew racing and middle distance track. In these last-mentioned sports the muscles are in constant motion for rather long periods of time, thus throwing a continuous burden on the heart.

Sometimes one hears the expression "athlete's heart." Not all who have studied this question agree there is such a thing.

Dr. J. W. Wilce, who was the famous health director of Ohio State University, studied the heart size in 233 American male athletes. He found that in many of these the heart was enlarged, but that this did not cause any apparent ill effects, if the athlete was otherwise normal.

A heart which is merely enlarged as a result of occasional strenuous exertion usually returns to normal size. Long-continued physical strain may result in permanent heart enlargement, though this of itself is not harmful.

However, the person who has any trace of heart disease and engages in extreme physical effort is much more liable to serious injury.

From the practical point of view there is little danger to the heart from any sport which does not involve continuous muscular exertion at top speed for several minutes at a time. In sports that do require this exertion, the heart must be carefully watchded for evidence of disease or strain.

BEWARE EVEN MINOR ILLS

It seems particularly undesirable to engage in this form of athletics during or immediately after even a minor illness like a common cold. Also if the growth is especially rapid, there may be some increased danger of injuring the heart by over-exertion.

Everyone agrees that proper training before engaging in competitive sports is highly desirable. Physical examinations beforehand and repeated at frequent intervals are well worthwhile.

Adolescents, especially those who are in a stage of rapid growth, need to use particular care. It seems most probable that after about the age of 18 the heart and the other bodily organs and functions are better able to stand physical strain than they are during the preceding years.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Pegler Slaps Organizations Which Oppose Re-arming of Germany

I may seem to be laboring the case of the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi league and the Society for the Prevention of World War III, but I should like to explain that these twin organizations together constitute a force of the most sinister potentialities.

Westbrook Pegler

The one operates a gum-shoe detective service whose secret agents plant themselves in confidential jobs and resort to black treachery against trusting employers whom they are out to "get" for any reason sufficient to the league. The other group, the Society for the Prevention of World War III, abuses individuals who disagree with the Morgenthau plan to turn over to the military forces of Soviet Russia all Germany, and eventually all Europe.

Under the Morgenthau plan, the armed forces of the United States and Great Britain would have been taken out of Germany long ago, leaving the military occupation to Germany's "continental neighbors." The late Harry Dexter White is believed by some persons to have written the Morgenthau plan. He was named in testimony as one of the Communist traitors who were planted in the government. This plan would have been consistent with the duties of a man in that role. Hodwever, if Morgenthau has changed his mind about the wisdom of turning all Europe over to Russia without resistance, as some other members of the Society for the Prevention have, he has said nothing about it.

Secret Membership

Because the membership of the society is secret, one is unable to poll the members to learn who has quit. However, I have been in touch with a few individuals and observe with interest that all but one of them have quit the society.

Normal Littell, a new deal Washington lawyer, was attorney for Isidore Lipschutz, the financial backer of both groups, and testified for him as a character witness in his naturalization process. Littell resigned two years ago. He couldn't keep up with its activities so he could not conscientiously continue to lend his name. He said it was news to him that Lipschutz's Anti-Nazi league employed professional sneaks to spy on individuals and organizations. He had never heard of Dorothy Waring, Richard Rollins, Joseph Brandt or Mario Buzzi, who were employed for such work by the league. When I inquired whether knowledge of these facts would change his opinion of Lipshutz he said he would not approve of anything wrong. He did not meet the question head-on.

"It has always been my impression that Lipshutz was the principal financial backer of the Society for the Prevention of World War III," he said. When he was told that Mark Van Doren, a Columbia professor listed as chairman of the board of the society, professed not to know whether it had a Constitution, how it raised its money or whether there was a physical list of members, Mr. Littell said: "I am astonished. I think he may have been trying to evade the inquiry."

He volunteered no possible reason why a pretentious intellectual teacher in Columbia university, or any reasonably honest man, should not tell the truth about the society. Van Doren is listed in connection with many organizations of the kind which drew the official attention of the house committee on un-American activities.

He thought Lipschutz was a very brave man. As to the source of his wealth, he said Lipschutz was the head of the "diamond syndicate" in Europe and had been cited by King Leopold of Belgium.

"My opinion on the rearming of Germany is changing," he said. "We have got a new menace on the east."

Are Anti-German

The league savagely opposes proposals to rearm Germany and reacts angrily even to proposals to treat the German people humanely.

Herbert Bayard Swope, of New York, said he had resigned. He was sympathetic with the efforts of High Commissioner John J. McCloy in Germany and he believed the society held that all who disagreed with it were "evil." He now believed that Germany should be rearmed to meet the new situation. He said he had always been skeptical concerning Mr. Lipschutz.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, of Washington, said she resigned in the spring of this year "because they got out something I didn't like.

"I didn't go along with them latterly," she said. "I think they went too far." She said she had never heard of any espionage activities by the Anti-Nazi league such as are revealed in past congressional hearings and in writings by the league's detectives.

Edgar Ansel Mowrer, of Washington, a journalist of long foreign experience, said he resigned because "in view of the developing situation it no longer had a useful purpose."

Although he is an "observer" of affairs, he had never heard or read espionage by the non-sectarian league, which has been publicized, however, for years.

Bromfield Writes

Louis Bromfield, who is listed on the society's "advisory council" this year, wrote:

"I have no records of having given my name but it is not impossible. A great many of these people send a letter saying that if I do not hear from you I will assume it is agreeable. I do not know where you could get a statement of the financial affairs of the society. I have just about come to the conclusion that it is impossile to give one's name, even to an organization which believes the sun will rise tomorrow."

Van Doren had said that his interest was attracted to the society by Rex Stout, of the Friends of Democracy, a similar, and to some extent overlapping, propaganda front. Stout, however, said he had recently resigned from the official roster of the society but had not resigned his membership. He had never heard of espionage by the Anti-Nazi league. He asked for documentary references, which were given, and indicated that he would strongly repudiate such practices. However, against that declaration lies the fact that his own Friends of Democracy employed a phony detective and notorious professional liar known by the alias of John Roy Carlson. United States Judge John P. Barnes of Chicago, condemned Carlson as "a wholly irresponsible person who was willing to say anything for money."

"I wouldn't believe him on oath," Judge Barnes added, "now or at any time hereafter."

Here's Woman Who Found Secret of Happy Old Age

She is a widow and a great-grandmother and she lives all alone. Her children are scattered over the country, busy with their own lives.

She could easily be an unhappy, lonely old woman, but she isn't. She is young in spirit and light in heart and so is getting a lot out of life.

She not only has good old friends, but is continually making new friends of all ages.

There's the young couple who used to live next door, whose small children she grew fond of. They've moved to another part of town now, but every Tuesday they are invited to her house for the day.

It's a gay day for the children, for she has all the time in the world to enjoy them. And it's a wonderful, free day for their mother, who otherwise would never have a day when she could get away from home free as a breeze, with nothing to worry about.

In that standing invitation to take over a young mother's children once a week can be found the principle reasons why this great-grandmother isn't a lonely, old woman. She is still willing to pay the price of friendship.

She doesn't expect friendship to be all getting and no giving, simply because she is old. She keeps her friendship on a "pay-as-you-go" and an "as-you're able" basis.

SHE SEEKS OUT OTHERS TO HELP

She keeps herself alive, alert and young-minded not by feeling sorry for herself because her own children no longer need her to play an active part in their lives but by looking around to see how she can be helpful to others

No woman with that positive approach to living will ever become an object of pity or self-pity.

Dixon Club-Guests Hear About Persia

A good attendance of Dixon Woman's Club members and their guests together with a number of members from other clubs in the country Saturday afternoon at the Loveland Community House, heard Miss Anna Ratzesberger tell of her Persian experiences. The program was under the sponsorship of the literature department headed by Mrs. Theodore Goe.

The speaker had been in Persia at different times for the purpose of collecting material for her lectures and for books which she writes She is especially noted for children's books She brought an exhibit of a variety of the handicraft of the country and urged her audience to pick things up and examine them. Persians are especially adept at metal work and weaving Another craft item which attracted considerable attention was work done with camels bones Camels which die along the trail are left and later the bones are collected and used for inlay work and as a background for painting.

The period of unveiling was described as it had progressed through recent years. The king realized not long after the first World War that real progress would not be made until women were given a more equal status with men. He felt that unveiling was one of the first ways to accomplish this so he started with the appointed officials He called them together for their annual appointment meeting and requested that they bring their wives along unveiled. It was unprecedented for the wives to accompany their husbands much less to be unveiled. The women appeared completely western with Parisian gowns, hats and even permanents in place of their traditional dozen or more long braids The decree next went out for school teachers and then for school girls to unveil. By 1935 it was the accepted custom except in the small mountain villages. However at the present a number of the older women are again veiling because of the belief that adherance to the old things will tend to counteract the infiltration of Russian ideology from the north.

Ask Governor To Stop Phone Strike Violence

in a dispute over wages and other issues.

The telegram asked the governor "to take the necessary steps to insure that the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., ceases these unwarranted acts immediately and respects law and order."

The union also said the company had "locked out" operators in Chicago, Oak Park, Peoria, Alton and Decatur.

Circuits Jammed

Bell Telephone called the accusations "silly and ridiculous." The company also said that the union is trying to "jam" telephone circuits.

The company said service is continuing although it has been interrupted occasionally in various cities because of the union's "hit-and-run" picketing policy.

The "hit-and-run" tactics employed by the strikers involves placing, then lifting, pickets at different exchanges. The company then has to interrupt service while it rushes recruited operators to the picketed exchanges.

Illinois Bell said normal operations were maintained in the Chicago long distance exchange by 208 regular operators and 304 supervisory helpers.

The union claims the company is "importing 1,000 operators from the east" to work in Illinois.

The company reported today that emery dust was thrown into a large refrigerator of the employes' cafeteria in the Illinois Bell building at 212 W. Washington St., Chicago, yesterday.

A quantity of meat and vegetables stored in the refrigerator were made inedible by the dust, a spokesman said.

The union's hit and run strikers showed up today at five new exchanges, all in the Chicago suburban area.

Clubbed Rabbit

Bruce Tidholm, 24, of Naperville, shot a rabbit Saturday but found the shotgun blast had not killed it. As he clubbed the rabbit with the butt of his shotgun it discharged accidentally and killed him. The accident occurred in a field on the Wheaton-Naperville road one-half mile north of U. S. route 34.

In another hunting accident Saturday, Albert H. Pieceall, 32, a Riverton coal miner, was killed. He was trying to cross a barbed wire fence when his gun discharged, wounding him in the head. Pieceall was hunting with his sons, Patrick, 7, and Hardy, 6, and a brother-in-law, Glenn Terry.

Michigan Race For Governor Is Undecided

igan may still not know whom it elected governor—even when inauguration time rolls around Jan. 1.

A formal recount of the state vote seemed certain, and that may take six weeks to complete after the canvassed figures are all in. And canvassers aren't required to report to the secretary of state's office before Dec. 7 thirty days after the voting.

If the state's biggest puzzler in political history isn't solved by inauguration day the newly elected lieutenant-governor, Republican State Senator William C. Vandenberg will take over temporarily until the race is settled.

marked.

When a 15-year-old Dixon high school freshman told the court this morning that their party started when William Doctor, 15, of 607 Jefferson avenue, bought beer at the Loop Tap, Judge Dixon immediately told Sheriff Gilbert P. Finch to bring Zmudka into court on a subpoena.

Zmudka In Court

Zmudka appeared along with his lawyer, Robert L. Bracken. Bracken admitted Zmudka pleaded guilty but added he did on the advice of "everybody."

Bracken went on to say that Doctor, who bought the liquor, had said he "never had seen Zmudka in his life."

When Judge Dixon asked about further prosecution against Zmudka, State's Attorney Morey C. Pires said he couldn't proceed because he didn't have anyone to proceed against. Doctor, apparently, had refused to name the man from whom he purchased the beer.

Here's part of the dialog between Judge Dixon and Bracken:

Bracken—My client pleaded guilty but he didn't serve Doctor beer.

Dixon—It's rather ridiculous that a man would plead guilty to something he didn't do.

Bracken—It's been done before.

Dixon—Not by a sane person.

Bracken—That may be.

Both agreed that Zumdka could be prosecuted again on the same charge by virtue of supreme court rulings in connection with selling liquor to minors. There'll be no further action against Zmudka, however, unless someone names him the person who sold beer to young Doctor.

Doctor Sentenced

Doctor already has been sentenced to St. Charles in connection with the drinking party. He had been on probation from county court on a delinquency charge.

Doctor, William Giese, 18, of 613 East Bradshaw street, and Robert Cotter, 17, of 352 East Everett street, still will face charges of encouraging Henson to break his probation. Henson's original five-year probation sentence was in connection with the looting of 15-to-20 cars Aug. 6.

Face Other Charges

The youths still have to appear in county court on the last charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Two other 14-year-old Dixon girls were involved in the spree.

William Gunner, who defended Henson, told the court:

"The girls were every bit as much a part of this as the boys. If they hadn't gone along with the boys, this wouldn't have happened."

Father Complained

The boys were arrested when one of the girl's father signed a complaint. He said she came home drunk

Judge Dixon started to call Doctor. Cotter and Giese to the stand to testify about Henson's conduct the night of the affair, but James Bales objected that any testimony they offered might incriminate them when they appeared on the contributing to delinquency charge in county court. No date has been set for further hearings.

Gunner asked for leniency for Henson because he was "waiting for his papers to get into the army.

"I don't believe in sending criminals into the army," Gunner said, "but I don't think Henson is a criminal. Certainly, what he did is not a penitentiary offense."

Judge Dixon agreed but added "the breaking of probation is a serious matter."

battalion was led by tanks and self-propelled guns. It pushed across the Orangchon river, about 90 miles from the Soviet border, threatening to outflank a South Korean regiment.

Near the west coast, U. S. First Cavalry division units advanced a mile and one-half. That carried them halfway to the walled town of Yongbyon. Patrols reached the walls but did not enter the town.

Heavy Communist resistance stopped other First Cavalry troops near Won, five miles southeast of Yongbyon.

Chinese Reds Advance

Five miles south of Won, an estimated three regiments of Chinese Reds smashed a two mile dent in lines of the South Korean Sixth division. Allied fighter-bombers halted this drive, killing about 1,000 Reds in a blazing attack two miles south of Kunu. The South Korean Seventh division moved up to bolster the Sixth.

Elements of the U. S. 24th division advanced up to two miles on the extreme western end of the front, about 18 miles west of Won. An Eighth Army spokesman said this placed them in the vicinity of Tungsan, four miles northeast of Pakchon and about 60 miles southeast of Sinuiju, entryway for Chinese troops from Machuria.

Use Fire Bombs

Fleets of B-29s ranging back of the fronts hammered again as Sinuiju and set three main supply points aflame with fire bombs.

A spokesman at General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said both bridges across the Yalu river from Manchuria to Sinuiju were believed knocked out after Monday's attack.

Forty B-29s made the fire attack. They loosed 340 tons of incendiaries on Sakchu and Chosan, on the Yalu river northeast of Sinuiju, and on Namsi, communications center between Sinuiju and the northwest front.

Three other communications and supply centers were set aflame Sunday in the B-29 scorched earth raids. The air force is methodically burning out Red collection points for men and supplies.

Fear Kidnaper Of Child Might Take Own Life

Stamm's ranch estate in the wooded outskirts of Santa Fe.

Dr. Campbell, who has a four-year-old adopted son, Rufus, said she was beset with debts and unpaid bills and worried about her elderly parents, both injured in an auto crash last night.

She was formally charged with kidnaping last night and held under $25,000 bond. If convicted, she would face from five years in prison to death in the electric chair under New Mexico's severe kidnap law.

Mother Shocked

Linda's mother, 32-year-old Mrs. Allen Stamm, was shocked to find the admitted kidnaper was the same respected women's specialist who had delivered her second son, Craig Stamm, just two years ago.

But after her 30-hour ordeal she had little sympathy for Dr. Campbell.

"I hope she will never be free again to bring to others what she has brought to us in heartaches and worry," she said.

"It must not be allowed to happen again . . . the mistreatment of an innocent child . . . the leaving of a little girl to the mercy of winter."

Dr. Campbell said she had enticed Linda away from home by promising to take her to her mother—who was at a bridge party. Then she drugged the child at her office, wrapped her in a blanket and left her overnight in an abandoned ranch cabin.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORT

By MARSH JONES
Sports Editor

LARRY KELLY HAD THINGS pretty well figured when he picked 20 games for us last Friday . . . He looked in his crystal ball Thursday night and spotted 15 games right . . . Miami tied Louisville and Maryland tied North Carolina to rob him of picks there . . . But he only missed three . . . Southern Methodist's 25-20 loss to Texas A&M is a definite upset . . . Drake wasn't supposed to beat Iowa State, but did, 35-21 . . . Columbia-Dartmouth could have gone either way . . . So it did, 14-7 Dartmouth . . . On games going definitely, Larry hit a neat .833 per cent . . . Watch the world beat a path to his door!

JOHNNY BRIGHT, DRAKE UNIVERSITY'S great colored star, set a new yardage record of 2,400 last Saturday as his team whipped Iowa State, 35-21 . . . The old mark was 2,187 by Frank Sinkwich in 1942 . . . Bright is an outstanding basketball player at Drake . . . He stands 6' 1" and weighs 200 pounds.

TWENTY-SIX TEAMS, including seven in the major group, remained unbeaten and untied in college football today . . . Six elevens, including Miami of Florida, dropped out during the week . . . Miami was knocked out Friday night when it battled Louisville to a 13-13 tie . . . Only seven major teams remain in the select group . . . They are Kentucky, Army, California, Oklahoma, Princeton, Wyoming and Loyola of Los Angeles.

BILL FISCHER, district conservation inspector, dropped by this morning . . . He reports that there are lots of hunters but few pheasants . . . He encountered hunters from Chicago, Peoria, LaSalle and Rockford over the weekend . . . The bag was "fair" but not every hunter in a party had a bird . . . Rabbits seemed plentiful . . . The duck shooting in this area is at its best now . . . Kills are being made in cornfields and along the river . . . Most ponds are frozen over . . . And here's a reminder: Ask permission before entering a farmer's property! You're tramping on fields that provide his living. You endanger his stock and tear down his fences . . . It's certainly worth asking, isn't it?

Elmore Mensior entertained his Elmorettes and their husbands at a dinner at the Manhattan following their match at the Recreation Sunday afternoon in which the men defeated their better halfs by 2-6 pins, when the girls made the mistake of letting their hubbies figure the handicap. John Hyland was the only one able to crack 500 with 541 to lead the men and Eva Wasson was high for the girls with 266. One bright spot for the Elmorettes was Polly Liston's defeat of their sponser by 12 pins, 358 to 346. The scores—

Low amateur was Hobart Manley Jr., Savannah, with a 294 total, one stroke ahead of Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N. C., and Jack Coyle of Springfield, Ill.

Coaching Job "Difficult" in Post-War Years

Minneapolis, Nov. 13—(AP)—Bernie Bierman today resigned as head football coach at the University of Minnesota. He asked to be relieved at the end of the present year.

Bierman said he had had the move in mind for some time and that he felt this was "as good a time as any."

He said the move was not prompted by the fact the current Gopher football team has failed to win a game thus far this year. He said that since World War II the coaching job had been particularly difficult.

Bierman added that he had no plans for the future and that he was not entertaining any offer of a coaching job at this time.

Bierman's action was announced at a news conference in the office of Athletic Director Ike Armstrong. Armstrong said that "Bierman could stay on in the athletic department in any capacity he wishes" and "we hope he will remain."

Armstrong's statement paid tribute to Bierman and said "His great record, which includes national championships, will always be known as one of the outstanding attainments in coaching."

Bierman's overall coaching record includes 162 victories, 57 losses and eleven ties.

Great Record

In the 18 years he has coached in Minnesota his teams have won 92 games, lost 34 and tied six. The current team has lost six games and tied one for the poorest showing of any Bierman-coached squad.

Bierman's Minnesota teams led the Associated Press national football poll in 1936, 1940 and 1941.

In military service in 1942, 1943 and 1944, he coached at the Navy's preflight school at the University of Iowa. He held a Marine Corps reserve commission as a major at the start of his military service and at present is on inactive status with the rank of colonel.

Chicago Bears Beat New York Yanks, 28-20

By JOHN CHANDLER

New York, Nov. 13—(AP)—With one month of the season remaining, the National football league found itself all scrambled up today with no less than six teams in a red hot battle for championship honors.

The won and lost figures in both divisions are exactly the same for the leaders after Sunday's six-game program. Cleveland's Browns still are leading the American conference, while the Los Angeles Rams displaced the New York Yanks atop the National group.

If the Rams want to stay in the lead, they've got a tough job next Sunday in the league's big game, when they meet New York at Yankee Stadium.

A total of 175,273 customers turned out for yesterday's festivities, and the largest throng at Chicago saw a real toe-to-toe slug-fest.

Bears Rally

Trailing 7-14 at halftime, the Bears surged back with two touchdowns in the third period and another in the fourth to dump the Yanks from their National division perch.

Johnny Lujack sneaked two yards to tie the count at 14-all in the third period, and then one of Yank George Ratterman's passes backfired. Rookie end John O'Quinn formerly of Wake Forest intercepted the toss on the New York five and scooted over the goal. Ratterman passed for two touchdowns in the first half, but the rugged Chicago linemen rushed him vigorously in the last two periods.

Illinois College Teams Wind Up Slates Saturday

Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—The football season ends generally for Illinois colleges next weekend and except for Wheaton trying to clinch the Little Nine title conference play will taper off without much excitement.

Wheaton's Crusaders are favored to brush aside Illinois College in the Little Nine finale at Jacksonville Saturday night, thus stowing away College Conference of Illinois crown.

That would give Wheaton a perfect 5-0 league record, shading second-place Illinois Wesleyan which already has finished with 5-1. If the Crusaders are upset, however, Wesleyan would take the title. Wheaton then would be knotted for second with Millikin at 4-1.

The Interstate Intercollegiate conference title went to Illinois Normal last Saturday as the Cardinals edged Northern Illinois State, 13-12. Normal thus finished with five victories and a tie. The runner-up spot goes to Western Illinois (3-1), no matter what the Macomb eleven does in its loop wind-up at Southern Illinois Univeristy Saturday.

One other IIAC contest is booked Saturday, with Northern Illinois (2-3) invading Eastern Illinois (1-2). A win will move either into a third-place tie with Central Michigan, already finished with 2-2.

Several traditional scraps are on the wind-up program, including Normal's invasion of Wesleyan and the Midwest conference finale between Monmouth and Knox at Galesburg.

Rose Bowl Express and Big Ten Limited Collide Saturday

By JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—A Rose Bowl express and a title-bound limited will crash head-one in a climactic Big Ten football battle between Illinois and Ohio State at Champaign, Ill., Saturday.

Whichever of these bristling aggregations, both ranked among the top ten in the AP national poll, plows through to victory will have clear track to one of two shining rewards.

For Ohio State, unbeaten in five league starts and rated second in the AP poll, a triumph will sew up the conference crown although the Buckeyes still have to meet Michigan. Ohio State, champion or not, cannot return to the Rose Bowl because the Bucks were there last Jan. 2.

For Illinois, with a 3-1 record, an upset of the bountiful Bucks probably will clinch a Rose Bowl bid, elbowing aside Pasadena-scenting Wisconsin (4-2) whose sole loop game left is against winless Minnesota Nov. 25.

It also follows that an Illinois victory over Ohio State would scramble the title picture for a furious final-round showdown the next Saturday.

If Ohio State should lose to both Illinois and Michigan, and Illinois conquers Northwestern Nov. 25, the Illini would not only be the first Big Ten team to return to the Rose Bowl in the current series, but also own the conference championship.

In that case, Illinois would have a final 5-1 record for an .833 percentage against Ohio State's 5-2 for .714. Illinois plays only six conference games against seven each for Ohio State and Wisconsin.

Michigan now with a 2-1-1 record also is a mathematical title and Rose Bowl possibility since a tie counts half a win in the standings. The Wolverines, another six-game contender, could cop by beating Northwestern next Saturday and Ohio State in the finale, coupled with an Ohio State loss to Illinois and a Northwestern conquest of Illinois.

All of which is overlooking the fact the rampaging Buckeyes will take a lot of taming to drop two in a row after winning six straight since their season-opening loss to Southern Methodist.

Stern Test

But Illinois unquestionably will be Ohio State's sternest test of the season. Rated 10th in the AP poll, the Illini have an identical overall record of 6-1, the only setback being a 7-6 shading by Wisconsin in a teeming downpour.

The Buckeyes, who had to dig in to bag the Badgers 19-14 last Saturday, have rolled along at almost a 40-point average for their seven games. Against Illinois, however, Ohio State will bang into a defense which has yielded only 35 points to seven foes, a remarkable five-point average.

The Illini have been waiting for this one. Their star back, Johnny Karras, has been given two weeks to rest up an injured ankle. He'll be in harness against the Buckeyes and try to out-duel Ohio State's big gun, Vic Janowicz. Without Karras, the Illini beat Michigan 7-0 and last Saturday whipped Iowa 21-7.

Ohio State's speedy backfield may find its match in Illinois' corps of swift backs, including Karras, Dick Raklovits, Don Stevens and Ron Clark.

Saturday Schedule

Saturday's three-game conference card, besides the Illinois-Ohio State and Northwestern at Michigan games, also includes a cellar-dweller battle between Minnesota (0-3-1) and Purdue (0-3) at Minneapolis.

In non-conference skirmishing, Indiana entertains Marquette, Wisconsin is at Pennsylvania and Iowa is host to Notre Dame. Michigan State invades Pittsburgh.

A new Big Ten season record for pass catching was set last Saturday as Northwestern end Don Stonesifer speared four tosses to raise his total to 24 in the Wildcats' 19-14 win at Purdue.

Other Saturday results included Minnesota's 27-0 setback by Michigan State, still leaving the Gophers winless in seven starts; Michigan's 20-7 conquest of Indiana uncovering a nifty soph back, Wes Bradford; Marquette's 21-19 nudging of Holy Cross; and Notre Dame's 18-7 win over Pitt.

JOHNNY BRIGHT, QUARTERBACK—Scored four times and passed to a fifth touchdown to lead Drake to a 35-21 victory over Iowa State. Bright also boosted his total yards gained to 2,400 to surpass previous record of 2,187 by Frank Sinkwich of Georgia in 1942.

DICK RAKLOVITS, FULLBACK—Dashed off 25 and 60-yard touchdown runs to pace Illinois to a 21-7 victory over Iowa and keep the Illini's Rose Bowl hopes alive.

Tuscola and Farmer City Records End

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13—(AP)—Thirteen downstate high school football teams survived today in the undefeated, untied ranks and all but three have completed 1950 schedules.

Peoria Manual, Mooseheart and Robinson each have one game to play. Manual closes Thanksgiving Day against Peoria Central, Mooseheart next Saturday against Alleman of Rock Island and Robinson Friday against Newton.

In 1949, twelve downstate teams wound up with perfect season marks.

Weekend upsets shattered dreams of Tuscola and Farmer City for spotless campaigns. Tuscola was spilled, 12-9, by Arcola and Farmer City was tripped, 14-7, by Gibson City. Both victims had knocked off all eight previous opponents.

Tuscola's setback forced the losers to share the Okaw Valley conference championship with Arcola and Monticello.

Few other conference titles remain to be decided. One is the Big Eight, where Elgin is assured at least a tie but may have to share honors with Joliet and West Aurora.

Two other pennant fights still awaiting decision are those in the Eastern Illinois and Southwestern loops.

The Robinson-Newton clash this weekend will settle things in the Eastern Illinois, while the contest in the Southwestern may drag out until Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 23.

Is China Ready to Try to Bleed the U.N. to Death?

By HAL BOYLE

With the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea—(AP)—The United Nations is running up against world Communism in the first real test of the Red military theory of "octopus defense."

The UN has defeated the North Korean foe in the field. But before the fresh, well-armed Chinese, the shattered North Koreans are trying desperately to rebuild a new army.

Does Brain Remain?

That is the belief of some veteran American intelligence officers. It is a known fact that, although the UN forces stripped the North Korean army of its muscle, the brain remained intact.

A recent summary by General MacArthur estimated the North Koreans have only 60,000 soldiers left of an army of some 400,000. Among the captured prisoners there was no enemy general, not even a full colonel.

Here is what American intelligence officers believe happened as the North Korean army started to crack in mid-September.

The enemy general staff withdrew north by plan beyond the 38th parallel. It issued orders to high field officers to defend as long as possible, then pull back.

The withdrawing forces were told to reassemble at Sinuiju, on the northwest end of the Korea-Manchurian border, and at Kanggye, a town only a short distance below the border in the north central part of the peninsula.

The North Korean general staff apparently is doing its best now to reorganize as large a fighting force as it can. It is an attempt to regain "face," also part of a Soviet inspired program never to admit final defeat.

Stragglers Reassemble

Stragglers from scenes of defeat in the south are being reassembled after the walk back, ragged and sometimes without weapons, across the hills. The remaining youth of North Korea are being forced into service. New units are under training on both sides of the border."

The North Koreans have been compressed into about one-fifth of the country they hoped to rule. Instead of a population of 30,000,000 from which to recruit, the Reds probably have left a population of 5,000,000.

Therefore, the chief concern of UN commanders is not for the 60,000 troops the North Koreans still have in the field. The chief worry is the daily increasing "token force" of 60,000 or more Red Chinese.

Is China ready to try to bleed the UN to death in Korea by slowly sending in the almost endless manpower of that nation's 450,000,000?

How About Russia?

And if that massive power should be committed to battle, would the Soviet Union also commit the weight of its own growing industry and its own 200,000,000 people to that same effort?

On these fulcrums the world is teeter-tottering today. It is wondering whether we are at the opening of an undeclared third world war—or whether the Russians and Chinese are using the threat of war as a cold bluff to win a diplomatic victory.

American intelligence officers tend to feel that, even if the entry of Chinese into North Korea turns out to be a bluff, it still suggests a big muscular step forward by Communism toward world rule by military means.

Alleged Monkeyshines With City Funds Gets Ft. Wayne Mayor, Others Under Arrest

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 13—(AP)—The mayor of Fort Wayne, two city officials and a businessman were under indictment today on conspiracy charges in connection with sales of coal and supplies to the city.

Two high ranking police officers were under indictment on perjury charges returned in the same grand jury report.

Six Arrested

The six men were arrested late last night and released under bond.

Mayor Henry E. Branning, Jr., and Harold F. Battenberg, city utilities purchasing agent, were named together in 36 indictments. Twenty-seven charged them with conspiracy to commit grand larceny, and nine charged conspiracy to obtain signatures on board of works members and the city utility superintendent to purchase orders through false representations.

Eugene Martin, president of the Martin Coal Company and a director of Korte Baker company, a supply firm was named in 13 indictments. They charged conspiracy to commit a felony and offering a bribe.

Charles H. Boyer, city councilman and a salesman for Korte-Baker company was charged in seven indictments with accepting bribes and in nine with conspiracy to commit larceny.

Police Chief Lester H. Eisenhut and Police Capt. Gregor Klug were charged with perjury.

Bonds were fixed at $11,000 for Martin, $9,000 each for Mayor Branning and Battenberg, $7,000 for Boyer and $1,000 each for the police officers.

It Wasn't Peanuts!

The larceny conspiracy charges against the mayor and Battenberg included 18 counts involving purchases of coal from the Martin firm and nine counts involving purchase of supplies from Korte-Baker.

The grand jury said sums involved were $195,461.11 in coal purchases and $38,647.00 in purchases of supplies.
